Congress Should Look Into Postal Zip Code

We have approximately 1,000 signatures on the petition to Congressman Oren Harris to stop the $500,000 Hope Post Office project — a majority of any primary election vote in the city — and it is probable that this federal deal is tied up indefinitely. The petition campaign will go on until we are convinced practically every adult in Hope has been interviewed. Signers must live in Hope — if we were to accept signatures from the rural county, where hostility to the project is even greater, the current total would be double our report.

What does a country newspaper editor have to say when he discovers that in a community fight the city government, the chamber of commerce, and the merchants association, are all arrayed against him?

This was disclosed in a large advertisement in The Star January 10.

That advertisement endorsing the Post Office project presented the very evidence calculated to defeat its objective. Here we learned for the first time that the reason the present post office — one of the finest buildings in Hope — has to be abandoned in favor of new construction at a new location outside the business district is because of a vast new expansion of the postal department's mail-handling system.

You will think instantly, as this writer does, of the much-publicized "Zip Code" which federal planners and spenders palmed off on an unsuspecting public in the past year.

They told us of the wonders of the "Zip Code" — what they didn't tell us was that this would involve untold millions of dollars expenditure for new Post Office plants in practically every county-seat town in America.

And all this was carefully and secretly planned at a time when the federal government's debt was more than 300 billion dollars and the annual budget deficit was 6 billion.

Therefore the true issue is not the Hope Post Office project but the "Zip Code" and its bureaucratic planners — and this betrayal of the taxpayers' interest is something Congress should look into.

As for the position taken by the Hope city government, the chamber of commerce, and the merchants association — this is a fight at the community level on a question directly affecting America's strength and safety, and all sides are entitled to be heard.

On the one side are the town organizations, and on the other the town newspaper and the citizens, as demonstrated by the unbroken march of our petition-signing.

Organizations may guess and declaim while the economic tide is favorable — but when disaster strikes it's every individual citizen for himself. You, the individual citizen, must decide here and now what is going to happen to you in the future. Today's resolutions don't provide you with bread and butter tomorrow if you or they guess wrong.

I remember — I founded a company in 1929, this newspaper's company. It was an unlucky year, as you will recall — and only by the starkest kind of management did we and our people pull through.

B-52 Falls in Mountains of Maryland

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—A huge jet bomber of the Strategic Air Command carrying two unarmed nuclear weapons and a crew of five crashed and burned in the Appalachian Mountains today.

"There is no danger of nuclear explosion," said Air Force officials, adding that explosive experts were en route to the scene.

The eight-engine B52 fell to earth in a blinding snowstorm at the foot of Big Savage Mountain in western Maryland, about 20 miles west of Cumberland. It was en route from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., to its home station at Turner Air Force Base, Ga.

"There is no need of evacuation," said the Air Force announcement from Westover AFB.

The Air Force explained that an unarmed nuclear weapon contains nuclear material but cannot explode until a crewman takes action to activate it.

State Troopers put a security ring around the wreckage.

The Air Force said three teams of experienced explosive ordnance disposal teams were dispatched from Westover Turner and Andrews Air Force Base, Md., but said this was routine.

The swept-wing SAC bomber was returning to its base in Georgia from a bomber-alert training mission, the 8th Air Force announcement said, and landed at Westover because of weather conditions.

It took the troopers from Cumberland five hours to reach the rugged, isolated area at the foot of the 2,788-foot mountain. There was 15 inches of snow on the ground and it was still snowing.

Air Traffic Control in Washington made the last radar contact with the plane about 1:40 a.m. The craft had left Westover shortly before 1 a.m. and had been due at Turner at 3:15 a.m.

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—State police reported early today that a plane had crashed in the snow — swept mountains of western Maryland.

Police said headquarters 8th Air Force in Westover, Mass., reported one of their planes, a B52 jet, was down in the area. Police had not been able to get to the crash scene. Snow plows were leading rescue teams over snow-clogged roads toward the rugged Savage Mountain area.

A farmer who lives at the foot of the mountain viewed the wreckage about a mile from his home. The farmer, Stonewall Green, 48, said he couldn't identify the plane.

Mrs. Bagley Talks to Century Class

Mrs. Roy I. Bagley taught the Century Bible Class of First Methodist Church Sunday, Jan. 12, using the subject "Mary, the Mother of Jesus," of which she had made a detailed study. Her husband, the Rev. Mr. Bagley, superintendent of the Hope Methodist District, spoke at the church at the 8:30 and 11:55 a.m. services.

35 Pay Visit to Shriner Hospital

A delegation of 35 Shriners, their ladies, and guests left Hope Sunday morning for a trip to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in Shreveport. Besides Millwood Shrine Club representatives from Hope, Nashville, and Bradley, four Shriners from Prescott also attended.

A police escort met the group at Bossier City, and they proceeded to the Fairfield Avenue Presbyterian Church in Shreveport for morning worship services. At the Shriners Hospital in the afternoon a welcome was extended by Potentate E. D. Clark of the El Karubah Temple in Shreveport. Shrine Greeting cards were given to a tour of the hospital, where the patients were met and the facilities were shown.

EDITOR'S NOTE — Wide distribution through the Associated Press of The Star's editorial attacking municipal federal aid and the new Post Office project for Hope has produced the following letters to The Editor.

Editor The Star: Here is copy of a letter I wrote the President today:

"Mr. President — Thanks for your efforts in cutting the budget.

"Ask Oren Harris to help you cut some expenses. We need a new post office about as bad as you need a 'sore heel.'"

Many of us have, on occasion, "viewed with alarm" the irresponsible actions of a few teenagers in our community. Now, we would like to "point with pride" to a responsible activity which a group of local youngsters undertook.

We are referring to the Teen-Age Program of the March of Dimes.

As TAP members, these teenagers organized a city-wide Sunday afternoon bread sale. Assisting co-chairmen Sara Bagley and Al Weisenberger, in this effort were the Student Council, National Honor Society, Key Club and Future Teachers of America. These Teens went door-to-door between the hours of 1:30 and 5:00.

Under the leadership of Al and Sara, these teens decided on the type of event they wanted to sponsor, obtained the proper permission, and set up a plan to assure adequate coverage of the city.

The March of Dimes Teen Age Program is a good thing for Hope. It gives the teenagers the opportunity to shoulder responsibility and learn the values of good citizenship through helping others.

You encouraged their efforts to promote juvenile decency while helping victims of crippling disease by contributing generously to the TAP's BREAD SALE for the March of Dimes this past Sunday afternoon.

Winrock Man Cattle Meet Talker, 16th

Dr. W. T. Berry of Winrock Farm will be speaker for the Hempstead County Cattlemen's Association meeting Thursday, Jan. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Diamond Cafe.

Dr. Berry came to Winrock Farm in 1961 from Texas A&M where he was professor in Animal Husbandry and in charge of coordinated beef research in nutrition and breeding.

Cow herd management will be the topic of discussion with emphasis being placed on producing more and better beef at lower cost. Question and answer period will be provided between each of the four divisions of the talk. All beef cattle producers are invited to attend.

Panama Issue Older Than President; Traces Back to Teddy Roosevelt's Days

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson inherited a Panamanian mess older than he is. It starts with President Theodore Roosevelt who contemptuously called Latin Americans "dagos."

Immediate cause of the Canal Zone riots in which more than two dozen Americans and Panamanians have been killed was a dispute over placing the Panamanian flag beside the American flag in the zone.

Such killings for such a reason may look like idiocy 100 years from now if by then the world is more civilized and flag placing is considered a job for landscape gardeners.

But here the causes run deep and all the way back to 1903: Cupidity, stupidity, nationalism and American imperialism. In 1903 Panama, then part of Colombia, revolted and set up its own government.

The idea of digging a canal across Panama from the Atlantic to the Pacific was at least 300 years old. After the Spanish American War there was a demand for it in this country. Roosevelt tried to arrange it with Colombia.

He didn't like the terms. He called the Colombians apes. In this country, but not by Roosevelt publicly, the people in the province of Panama were encouraged to revolt. They did, and got instant American military help.

Later Roosevelt came out from behind the bushes: "I took Panama." He quickly recognized the new republic and just as quickly made a deal with it to build a canal.

The revolt started Nov. 3, 1903; this government recognized the Republic of Panama on the 6th; and a treaty on the canal was concluded on the 18th.

Although the canal was not finished until 1914, long after Roosevelt was out of office, one of his biographers said his maneuvering left a "U.S. legacy of ill will" in Latin America "where the good neighbor policies of later presidents have failed to this day to dissipate it entirely."

The treaty granted the United States "in perpetuity the use, occupation and control of the zone of land (10 miles wide) from Atlantic to Pacific.

In time "perpetuity" became a cancer to Panamanians. How come the United States could move in on Latin American countries like this? Roosevelt explained it in what is called his corollary to the Monroe Doctrine.

He altered that doctrine, which denied European countries the right to butt in on Latin American affairs, to a new doctrine giving this country the right to butt in. And it did for years.

Latin Americans are still wary, as they have shown. One historian of Latin America, Hubert Herring, called the Panama of those early days a disorderly house run by an oligarchy.

It's still run by an oligarchy, a few powerful white families who have warred among themselves.

In the years since 1903 irritations have built up. The Panamanians wanted more than the $2 million they get yearly from the canal; they complained against discrimination in the pay they got working in the Canal Zone, where 36,000 Americans live, and with justice because their pay was raised.

They have wanted more say over operation of the canal. They demanded various concessions, and the United States yielded on many. It has also probably been politically smart for the Panamanian officials to badger the United States.

President Roberto Chiari, who broke off relations with this country after the riots began last week, has been called definitely unfriendly to the United States.

While the imperialism and nationalism of Theodore Roosevelt showed bitter seeds, the Panamanians, like the rest of Latin America and people everywhere, have become extremely nationalistic in turn.

U.S., Panama Set Up Joint Peace Body

By JOE MCGOWAN
Associated Press Writer

PANAMA (AP) — The United States and Panama agreed today on the creation of a joint authority to keep the peace in the Canal Zone and President Johnson's trouble shooter expressed cautious optimism on the progress of talks before returning to Washington.

"I am grateful for the progress we made in restoring peace and law in Panama and the Canal Zone," said Asst. Secretary of State Thomas C. Mann, Johnson's special envoy.

Mann talked with reporters before leaving for a farewell call on President Roberto Chiari. It was Mann's second meeting with Chiari since his arrival Friday.

The meetings were held despite the fact that the Panamanian president broke diplomatic relations because of the bloody fighting that broke out Thursday after a dispute between Panamanian and U.S. students over displaying their national flags in the Canal Zone.

Informed sources said no substantive agreement had been reached during the conference, but that necessary groundwork was laid.

The agreement on the creation of a joint peace-keeping authority provides for cooperation with the Organization of American States.

PANAMA (AP) — The United States and Panama agreed today to set up a joint authority with the Organization of American States in order to keep peace along the riot - bloodied Canal Zone border, diplomatic sources reported.

The five-man delegation from the OAS arranged, for a final meeting today to settle technical details for the peace authority proposed by Argentina.

Informants said the United States and Panama would each have one military man and civilian on the authority, with a neutral OAS representative as chairman. Alfredo Vazquez 'carriosa, Colombian ambassador to the OAS, has been proposed, they added.

Diplomatic sources said it had not been decided whether the peace-keeping group would use military or civilian forces to police the border area. It was said earlier that troops from both the United States and Panama might make up the patrols.

Edwin M. Martin, U.S. assistant secretary of state, represented the United States in the OAS negotiations and told newsmen a 1:55 a.m. "We have made reasonable progress."

Galileo Solis, Panamanian foreign minister, said as he left the meeting: "Slowly we are marching forward."

The two chief U.S. representatives, Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, and Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance, agreed to a Panamanian government request to remain here for a possible meeting today with Panama officials.

There was more violence Sunday in Colon, the Panamanian city on the Caribbean side of the Big Winter Storm Hits Eastern U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A massive snowstorm, described by the Weather Bureau as the winter's worst, snarled across the eastern United States today.

Numerous highways were blocked, hundreds of motorists stranded and communities isolated as gale-force winds piled the snow into drifts as much as 10 feet deep.

From two to five inches of snow has fallen on greater New York and up to six inches were expected before the storm blows out to sea this afternoon.

The Weather Bureau in Washington issued a heavy snow warning for New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and all but the northern part of New England.

Western Pennsylvania received from 5 to 10 inches of snow which began falling Sunday afternoon and was still coming down Monday morning.

Huge snow drifts were piled up by 50-mile-an-hour winds in central Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

The Weather Bureau urged motorists in the Midwest and East to stay off the highways in storm areas or run the risk of becoming snowbound in near-zero weather.

That fate already has befallen hundreds of motorists.

In Illinois, some 500 motorists became overnight guests of the 1,200 citizens of Neoga, a farm community which opened the local American Legion hall and Masonic Temple to accommodate stranded travelers.

In Indiana and Ohio, other hundreds of motorists abandoned autos on snow clogged highways and sought shelter at service stations, road houses and farms.

Springfield, the capital of Illinois, was virtually isolated with only one main highway into the city open. A few miles south of Springfield, 25 Boy Scouts on a weekend camping trip awaited rescue today at their snowbound camp site.

Schools were closed in the suburbs of Washington, D.C., while in the nation's capital, stringent snow plans which forbid motorists to block traffic or park on main streets being plowed were put into effect.

Hundreds of schools in the Midwest, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania were closed.

The gigantic storm system — which began as two separate storms, one from the Midwest moving east and the other moving northeast along the Atlantic states — generated high tides and gale force winds along the Atlantic coastal regions.

The snow and ice dipped into the South. Light snow and freezing rain were reported in Tennessee, North Carolina, Alabama and Georgia.

West of the Mississippi, clear skies and cold temperatures were the rule. Below zero temperatures prevailed over much of the northern and central plains states and the western interior.

Report to Outside

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — Newspaper publisher Alex Washburn said today he has 1,000 signatures on petitions to get Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., to kill a proposed $500,000 post office project for Hope.

Washburn said the signatures represented a majority of any primary election vote in the city "and it is probable that this federal deal is tied up indefinitely," he added.

Washburn, editor and publisher of the Hope Star, began his petition campaign against the federal project 10 days ago, saying in an editorial that the new post office was not needed and contending that government economy should begin at the grass roots level.

He said he was shooting for 2,000 signatures and said the petition campaign would go on "until every adult in Hope has been interviewed." The city's population in 1960 was 8,399.

The city government, the chamber of commerce and the Hope merchants' association took an advertisement in Washburn's newspaper favoring the post office project.

Washburn changed in an editorial that the organizations favored a new, larger post office in a different location because the Post Office Department needs more room for its Zip Code mail delivery system.

Racing Star Speaks to Lions Club

Duane Carter, veteran Indianapolis 500-mile race driver, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Hope Lions Club at Diamond Cafe Monday.

Mr. Carter was in the city to appear at a general assembly of Hope high school students presenting the nationally recognized Champion Highway Safety program, but due to inability to heat the high school auditorium the assembly was canceled.

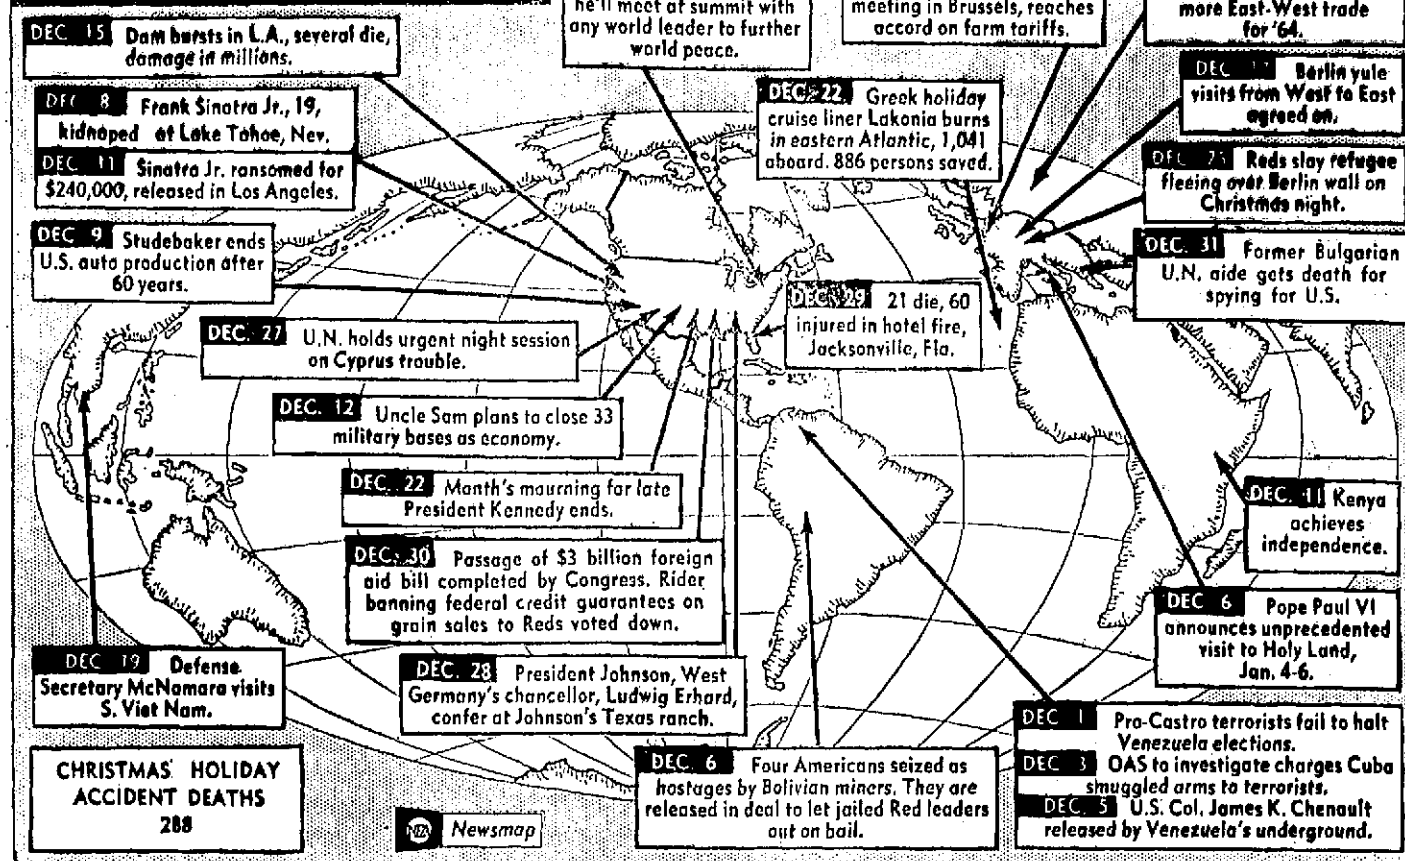

The Indianapolis driver is one of eight veteran racers carrying a highway safety message to teenagers in the nation. It was the fourth scheduled appearance of the program here in the last eight years. The Public Service award of the National Safety Council twice has been presented to Champion Spark Plug Company of Toledo, Ohio for developing and maintaining the program.

Washington and Benton County sheriff's deputies and state police started tracking the man in the snow after the wrecked car was found on a country road four miles southwest of Gentry, in the western section of Benton County.

There was a little more than an inch of snow on the ground.

The service station operator, Wesley Bledsoe, was not hurt. Sheriff John Black said the car had been stolen Sunday night in the Siloam Springs area.

Civil War Breaks Out in India as Hindus, Moslems Shoot Each Other Down

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP) —

The theft of a sacred Moslem relic in Kashmir has mushroomed into the worst outbreak of Hindu-Moslem violence since hundreds of thousands were killed in the 1947 massacres that followed partitioning of the Indian subcontinent.

Hindus are killing Moslems in Calcutta, India's largest city, and Moslems are killing Hindus in villages of East Pakistan, just east of Calcutta. Both Indian and Pakistani governments are reluctant to disclose the full horror of what is happening, partly for fear that the violence will spread.

The official death toll in the Calcutta area was 75 Sunday. Unconfirmed reports circulating in responsible quarters in Calcutta indicate the number is far higher.

The highest figure responsibly reported from East Pakistan is 29 deaths. But Hindu refugees reaching Calcutta have indicated the number is greater.

Hatred between Hindus and Moslems has long existed in what used to be British India. It stems from economic and power rivalries, as well as religious differences.

When the British prepared to give India independence, the Moslems demanded a separate nation. Pakistan was carved in two pieces out of the subcontinent.

Many Hindus found themselves living in Pakistan or many Moslems in India. Millions left their ancestral homes to migrate. In the mass transfer, hundreds of thousands were killed in an orgy of vengeful communal warfare.

Some 10 per cent of India's 440 million people are Moslems, and millions of Hindus remain in East Pakistan. There have been periodic outbreaks of violence in both countries.

None has been as bad as what began last week. It was touched off by the theft Dec. 26 in Srinagar, capital of the Indian-controlled part of Kashmir, of a hair believed to be from the head of the Prophet Moham mad. Demonstrations in pre-dominantly Moslem Srinagar turned against the government rather than taking a violently religious turn.

Pakistani officials charged the theft was part of an effort. They refused to believe the Indian announcement Jan. 4 that the hair had been found.

At Khulna, East Pakistan, 75 miles east of Calcutta, a demonstration protested against the theft. What happened next is unclear, but there was violence.

The Pakistani government denied the violence was of a religious nature. But Calcutta newspapers began publishing reports from refugees that Moslems had butchered Hindus because of the prophet's hair.

That set Calcutta aflame. History indicates the frenzy will pass off soon. But history also indicates it will return again.

Mr. Carter told members of the Lions Club that all parents shared in the responsibility which a teen-age must assume when he once gets a driver's license. "Actually," he said, "our teen-agers, because of their youth, their reflexes and driver education, are our best drivers, but a few tie-burning showoffs paint the whole group with the same black brush."

Mr. Carter's appearance here was arranged by Dub Flowers of J. B. Cook Auto Machine Company.

Ed Note: It's not the "small-town politicians," as you put it, Mr. Griffin — they are followers, not leaders. The real push for urban aid is coming from the big cities. They aim to throw the small towns a few peanuts and then make off with as much of the federal aid for themselves. Thus, Hope is baited with $250,000 federal aid for street-paving (which we rejected) so Los Angeles and San Francisco — just to name two — can rustle up 500 million federal dollars apiece for rapid-transit systems. I say, if folks got out of the Big Town in a station-wagon let 'em get back from the suburbs the best way they can.

canal. A Panamanian National Guardsman was killed and two others were wounded, bringing to 24 the death toll since a flag-raising incident in the Canal Zone Thursday set off the fighting. Three of the dead were U.S. soldiers.

The U.S. Army said the slain guardsman apparently was caught in a crossfire between snipers and U.S. soldiers. The Army said the guardsman was hit by a high velocity bullet while the U.S. troops were using shotguns. Panamanian guardsmen searched border streets on the Colon side for snipers.

Panama City's streets were deserted Sunday night, but earlier in the day as many as 100,000 turned out in the capital to follow the bodies of 14 countrymen killed in the fighting. Most of the 14 were students.

After funeral services in the Metropolitan Cathedral, the coffins were carried eight miles to the Jardin de Paz (Garden of Peace) Cemetery. President Roberto Chiari led the mourners.

While the OAS delegation appeared to have set up machinery to keep the pace along the canal, major issues between the United States and Panama remained unsettled.

Panama broke relations with the United States because of the fighting. At the same time it renewed demands for revision of the U.S.-Panamanian treaty under which the United States occupies the Canal Zone. Mann and Vance are expected to arrange for discussions of these problems.

In an effort to remove one source of friction, President Johnson's administration warned all U.S. citizens in the Canal Zone that they must abide by a U.S. - Panamanian agreement of last year that whenever flags are flown in the zone, the U.S. and Panamanian flags will be flown side by side.

U.S. high school students in the zone defied this order last week and raised the American flag. Panamanian students retaliated Thursday with a flag-raising of their own in the zone, and the violence mushroomed.

American officials accused Panamanian supporters of Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba of taking a hand in the anti-American demonstrations. President Chiari himself said earlier that Castroites had infiltrated the ranks of anti-American demonstrators.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Washington Sunday night that Castro - Communist elements probably saw in the flag incident "an opportunity to stimulate violence."

Rusk said the United States cannot afford to pull out of the Canal Zone and that he has not heard any responsible leader

PANAMA (AP)—Amid some signs of diminishing tension between the United States and Panama, U.S. personnel returned today to the embassy building in downtown Panama.

Diplomatic sources reported that the United States and Panama agreed to set up a joint authority with the Organization of American States in an effort to keep peace along the restive Canal Zone border.

But agreement on machinery for the peace-keeping operation remained to be worked out in a final meeting of the OAS mission with U.S. and Panama representatives before the mission returns to Washington.

U.S. personnel quit the embassy building and burned secret papers Saturday, fearing that the building might become a target for anti-U.S. demonstrations.

Panama has broken relations with the United States and demanded guarantees for revision of the 61-year-old Panama Canal treaty in the wake of U.S. Panamanian clashes on the Canal Zone border.

UNFORGETTABLE COMFORT WITH ECONOMICAL ELECTRIC HEAT !

When she's a grown woman, with her own Total Electric home, she'll recall the wonderful warmth, the clean, whole-house comfort of cozy electric heat — and by then this modern, infinitely better way to heat homes will be as universally accepted as the electric light is today. Flameless Heating is so adaptable, so easily installed, that it may be added to older homes as simply as it is put into new homes.

What does this superior home comfort cost? When you get the FACTS, you'll be amazed at the economy, for we have records of dozens of homes in Arkansas where the cost of electric heating — plus all other electricity used — is less than $1 a day! And the best news is that the trend in electric rates is constantly downward. No other home-heating fuels can honestly claim as much.

More than a million American families have already chosen this modern way to ideal heating comfort... If you're planning to buy, build or modernize, ask us for full information on Flameless Heating.

SO MODERN...IT'S FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEAT!

State High Court Hears Atty. Case

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court agreed today to hear the appeal of two Memphis attorneys who were jailed because they allegedly said a Pulaski County Circuit jury was "stacked" against them in a lawsuit.

Technically the Supreme Court only approved an order by Justice George Rose Smith which freed the two attorneys, Bernard M. Rosen and James O. Garner, after they had spent nearly 24 hours in jail.

Circuit Judge Guy Amsler sentenced Rosen to 10 days and Garner to five days for contempt after a hearing last week and refused to allow them to post bond.

The alleged stacked jury charge stemmed from a Dec. 19 case in Amsler's court involving an automobile accident damage claim.

The jury awarded a $20,000 judgment against the Victor Insurance Co. in the case. The lawyers represented Victor.

The court reversed an order revoking the medical license of Dr. Ofin Joseph Hake of Taylor (Columbia County) and ordered the state Medical Board to conduct another hearing in the case.

The court said Hake's license should remain suspended until the board has reviewed the matter.

The Medical Board suspended Hake's license June 25, 1962 and revoked it Nov. 21, 1962. On grounds that Hake was guilty of malpractice and was mentally incompetent to practice medicine.

Circuit Judge J. Mitchell Cockrill of Pulaski County affirmed the action of the board April 12, 1962.

The Supreme Court said in today's unanimous opinion that there was no evidence in the record of the case to sustain the board's findings either that Hake was guilty of malpractice or mentally incompetent.

It said the Medical Board had failed to follow rules of procedure by putting all evidence in the case into writing.

"The record furnished no factual standard for the board's conclusions (in this case)," Justice Johnson wrote in the Supreme Court opinion.

The Supreme Court said it was possible that the board might develop a case against Hake at another hearing, but it had failed to do so in the first one.

The record contained numerous statements by witnesses supporting and opposing Hake, who testified he was the only licensed physician in Taylor, a small town near the Louisiana border.

DOROTHY DIX

ARE TEACHERS, PREACHERS OR PARENTS TO BLAME?

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: My son, a junior in high, is arrogant and disobedient. He has even attacked me with his fists.

I blame the churches and schools for their laxness in teaching youngsters manners and respect for their elders. We have let modern-day hoodlums replace good religious upbringing.

I think we mothers would carry more authority with our children if we let our hair get gray (instead of dyeing it yellow or blue-black), appear more pale and helpless—even a little senile. Then arrogant youth might respect and help us more.

Trouble is we put ourselves on their level as pals rather than parents. Do you agree?—Despairing Mother

Dear Despairing: No. I think the more attractive a woman is the better her changes of accomplishing what she sets out to do in life, whether it be rearing children or working in an office. The trouble with most mothers is that they are likely to be over-protective, especially where sons are concerned. Only the other day a boy made the shocking statement to me that he could get anything he wanted out of his mother. This boy, of good family, is a potential juvenile delinquent even though his schooling and religious training have been of the best. He got out of hand because his mother was unable to control him. Her lack of control dates back to his childhood when, through misplaced love, she failed to discipline him.

Somewhere along the line you have lost control of your son. Like it or not, you've got to let him know you're boss. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "How to Get Along with an Adolescent."

Dear Helen: I love two women for different reasons. One is a businesswoman, smart as all get-out, the other a true homemaker. In a sense, I look down on the latter because her only interest is housekeeping. My problem is, which should I marry?—On the Fence

Dear On: I doubt that you love either, else you'd know the answer yourself. The story of Martha and Mary in St. Luke, Chapter X, Verses 38-42, is a beautiful example of the difference in values of two different women. Although Jesus said, "Mary has chosen the good portion which shall not be taken away from her," I do not believe that any implication of contempt for housework was intended since He Himself cooked

Rebels on Zanzibar Oust Sultan

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—Shooting and looting were reported today on Zanzibar, newest member of whose Arab government was overthrown by African nationalists.

The ousted sultan, Seyyid Jamshid Bin Abdulla, was believed to be fleeing up the coast in his yacht, leaving the republic in the hands of his political foes after Sunday's coup.

Frederick P. Picard, U.S. consul in Zanzibar, said by telephone the situation is still delicate and he is trying to get 21 U.S. women and children removed from the island nation off Africa's east coast.

There are 57 Americans stationed at a tracking station for the Project Mercury satellite program. They appeared in no immediate danger but Picard told the U.S. Embassy in Dar es Salaam he wanted to get the dependents on the destroyer Mantley cruising offshore.

Authority for the Mantley to dock was being sought from Washington by consular officials. They feared there might be repercussions if the destroyer docked. The rebel government has declared a state of emergency and warned all ships to keep clear of Zanzibar's territorial waters.

A broadcast by the revolutionary regime's radio, styling itself "The Freedom Fighters of Zanzibar," said several persons were killed in the fighting that broke out Saturday night and raged into Sunday.

Two policemen were killed when the African nationalists stormed the armory, the broadcast said. Another policeman was reported killed defending the home of the ousted prime minister, Mohammed Shamihi Harahi.

Harahi was believed to be with the sultan.

By late Sunday night the rebels were reported to have seized control of all but one strategic building in or around Zanzibar City.

They took over the cable office and halted cable services from the island. They also held the airport, and no planes were allowed to take off or land. Only faulty telephone communications were open.

The revolt occurred a month and two days after Zanzibar gained independence. It was a British protectorate for 73 years. Zanzibar remained in the British Commonwealth. The rebel broadcasts gave no indication that this tie would be broken.

The rebel station said Sheikh Ahmed Karume, head of the Afro-Shirazi party, was named president of the new republic. Sheikh Abdul Rahman Mohamed Babu, whose Umma party was banned earlier this month for

West Thinks It's Best in the National

By CHARLES MAHER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If the court please, counsel for the Western Conference of the National Football League wishes to offer a third exhibit in support of its claim to superiority over the Eastern Conference. It asks that this be marked Exhibit C and placed in evidence.

The jury will recall that Exhibit A was introduced Dec. 29. That was when the champion Chicago Bears of the Western Conference won the NFL title by defeating New York's Eastern Conference champions 14-10 in Chicago.

Exhibit B was the Playoff Bowl game at Miami Jan. 1. In that one the West's No. 2 team, Green Bay, scored a 40-23 victory over Cleveland, the Eastern Conference runner-up.

Exhibit C is the NFL's 14th annual Pro Bowl game, played Sunday before a crowd of 67,242 and won by the Western Conference All-Stars 31-17.

The Western Conference submits that this sort of thing has been going on, and without an interruption, since 1957. It suggests that since that time the Eastern Conference has probably suffered more reverses than it has pulled in post season games.

Of the last seven NFL title games, Western Conference teams have won six. In the Pro Bowl, the West has won six of the last eight.

Against Eastern Conference opponents during the last regular season, the West had a less substantial edge, winning seven games, losing six and tying one.

Baltimore quarterback John Unitas threw two touchdown passes and Green Bay fullback Jim Taylor gained 98 yards rushing Sunday as the West scored its ninth Pro Bowl victory in 14 tries.

Unitas, for the third time in this series was named Player of the Game. And Baltimore's retiring defensive end, Gino Marchetti, was named Lineman of the Game.

Cleveland fullback Jim Brown scored both of the East's touchdowns and led all rushers with 101 yards in 15 carries. Taylor got this 98 yards in 14 carries, averaging seven yards to yardline Brown's 673.

The West, ahead 14-3 at the half, ran its lead to 25 points early in the third period. First Jesse Whitenton of Green Bay intercepted a pass by Washington's Norm Snead and returned the ball 26 yards for a touchdown.

Hendrix and Teachers Winners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hendrix and Arkansas State Teachers Colleges took victories in Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball Saturday night while Harding lost a non-conference game to Christian Brothers College of Memphis.

State Teachers came from behind to get a 98-85 victory over Henderson in a game at Conway.

Henderson was ahead 45-44 at the half. But Tom Davis sparked State Teachers with a seven-point spurt in the second period to put the Bears ahead for good.

Jerry Savell led scoring with 33 points for Henderson while Davis hit 30 for Teachers and Freddie White added 24 more for the Bears.

Hendrix took an early lead and, bolstered with a couple of surges, maintained it while whipping Ozarks 75-61 in a game at Clarksville.

Ozarks moved to within five points, 47-42, in the second period but Hendrix spurred ahead again to continue leading.

Joe Murpley led scoring with 19 points for Hendrix. Melvin Bailey had 12 for Ozarks.

Christian Brothers College took its second consecutive victory from Harding, 100-86 in a game at Searcy.

CBC led all the way on the scoring of Mike Gleason and Al Cash. The Memphis school had

Breen, So. State Man, in Opera

KERMIT BREEN

MAGNOLIA — Kermit Breen, director of vocal music at Southern State College, will be featured in the leading tenor role of Don Jose in Magnolia's first opera "Carmen" to be presented at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 15, in the Magnolia Junior High School auditorium by the Shreveport Symphony Opera Repertory Company.

Breen has sung other leading roles with the company, including those from "Aida," "La Traviata" and "Pagliacchi," and performed the role of Don Jose in the Shreveport group's production of "Carmen" several years ago, which received high acclaim from critics.

In addition to singing with the Shreveport company, Breen has made it possible for Southern State College music students to perform with the group, arousing greater interest in opera in the Magnolia area and in vocal music at the college.

Two music education majors from Southern State, Jerry Nipper of Magnolia and Johnny Mason of El Dorado, will have roles in "Carmen" and the 35 members college concert choir trained by Breen, which will serve as the opera chorus, has made several trips to Shreveport to rehearse with the cast.

Breen is a native of Chicago and received his bachelor of music and master of music degrees from the University of Illinois. He has had several original choral works performed.

Breen has also directed music groups at the University of Illinois and Flint Central High School at Flint, Mich., where he taught voice and harmony before coming to Southern State College in 1957.

He has also traveled widely in the United States, Japan and Korea under the auspices of the Armed Forces with U.S.O. groups as arranger, choral director, actor and soloist.

Well-known in opera, concert and oratorio circles in the mid-west and south, Breen was made many radio and personal appearances as a soloist and has conducted both orchestras and choral groups with various schools and civic groups.

He is married to the former Peggy Walker of Columbia County and has four children: Barbara, 11; Heather, 7; Barton, 3, and Hillary, 6 months.

Breen is a member of Pi Kappa Lambda, honorary music fraternity; the Arkansas Education Association, the first Methodist Church of Magnolia; the Magnolia Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club.

A.&M. Safe Until Game With Owls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas A&M University's Aggies, a team that has displayed carloads of desire in reaching the Southwest Conference Basketball leadership, is safe until Feb. 1.

That's the date of fightin' Aggies meet Rice University's potent Owls to reopen the conference race following midterm examinations.

On the same day, Arkansas will invade Waco to play Baylor. Texas Christian will be in Dallas to take on Southern Methodist, and Texas, a disappointed team with a 1-2 conference mark, will be on the south plains to meet Texas Tech at Lubbock.

But it will be the Texas A&M-Rice fray that the conference, and most of the fans, will be watching. The game will match the Aggies' high-scoring Bennie Lenox against the Owls' stellar point - makers, Kendall Rhine and Larry Phillips.

The game at Houston could be a high-scoring affair, but neither the Owls or the Aggies are exactly easy marks when it comes to stopping point-makers. A Rice victory would put the Owls in first place with the Aggies, and so would a victory by ambitious Texas Tech over Texas as put the Red Raiders in a tie for top place.

Before the conference race is renewed, however, the TCU's play University of Houston on Jan. 23 and four non-conference games—Baylor at Houston, Rice at Trinity, Arkansas at Tulsa and SMU at Oklahoma City U.—are set for Jan. 23.

Meanwhile, the Aggies are top bananas in the storied old conference, and they got to the pinnacle last week by smothering Texas Christian 92-64 and defending champion Texas 65-60.

The disappointed Longhorns, favored by the loop's coaches to repeat as champions, also lost a squeaker to Arkansas 58-53 and are faced with the Herculean task of winning their remaining conference games to even come closer.

The Aggies are all-victorious in the championship race with a 3-0 mark while Rice, with its field goal geniuses Rhine and Phillips, and Texas Tech, a great defensive outfit, are 2-1, along with Arkansas and Southern Methodist.

Texas, at 1-2 is in sixth place and Baylor and TCU, with identical 0-3 marks in conference play, bring up the rear.

Women Hard Bargainers on Repairs

CHICAGO (AP)—If the family car needs fixing, better let the wife bargain for the repair job.

An $80,000 survey released Wednesday apparently confirmed what automobile repairmen have suspected all along: Women drivers are harder to deal with than men.

And, says the survey, it's all because women don't understand things mechanical. But most of them freely discuss the repair job and auto parts.

The study was conducted by the Automobile Service Industry Association and the Automotive Advertiser's Council to determine why people buy auto parts and how they respond to specific advertising, said Al Joseph, study committee chairman.

"Many women do not feel any shame at their ignorance of things mechanical," explained Joseph. "They, therefore, have no reluctance to question their repair outlet on price, work done, the reason for a repair and the like."

But men, who are supposedly mechanically inclined, "are ashamed of their lack of knowledge and try to hide it," Joseph said.

It's because of this, said Joseph, that men are easier to do business with.

R. F. Kennedy to Continue as Atty. Gen.

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy says he will stay on as attorney general and do whatever President Johnson and the Democratic party ask him to in the presidential campaign.

Beyond that, the future of the 38-year-old brother of slain President John F. Kennedy remains uncharted.

"I'll certainly stay on through the election," he said in an interview. "I don't know what I'm going to do when that's over."

Kennedy deftly engineered his brother's successful campaign in 1960. Would he do as much for Johnson, who fought John Kennedy for the Democratic nomination that year?

"I'll be available to work in the campaign," he replied instantly. "Nobody's said anything to me about it yet, but I'll do whatever anybody—the President or the Democratic National Committee—feels will be helpful."

Kennedy, until today, had made no statements for publication about his plans since an assassin took his brother's life in Dallas Nov. 22.

He looks tanned, healthy and more relaxed than he has since that fateful day. He has had time to rest, sit, be with his family and collect his thoughts.

The man who settled into the high-backed red leather chair in the fifth-floor chambers of the Justice Department had a quiet, subdued manner. But he was quick to smile, ready to laugh at a quip as he answered questions.

He was noncommittal when asked about a recent Associated Press survey which showed him second favorite—behind Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota—for the vice presidential nomination.

"My one interest now is being attorney general," he said. However, he was obviously pleased that the Democratic county chairmen canvassed in the poll thought so well of him.

He was more outgoing about recent reports that President Johnson has his eye on Kennedy's brother-in-law, Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, for the vice presidential slot.

"He's a very able figure," Kennedy said of Shriver. "He turned in one of the outstanding jobs of President Kennedy's administration in directing the Peace Corps. He would certainly be qualified for the job."

He's Seeking Perfect Face of a Girl

By JAMES CALOGERO BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Harvey Peck, 26 and single is a girl watcher with a cause: He's looking for the perfect face.

Peck has been studying girls (just their faces; other facets of girl watching are for amateurs) for a year. He still has a year to go on his project. Nonetheless, Peck has reached some tentative conclusions, to wit:

"American and international beauties have a tendency to have a toothy, full profile, rather than a straight profile."

"A 'toothy, full profile' is sort of a pout. Perfect examples of the type, says Peck, are Sophia Loren, Brigitte Bardot and Doris Day.

They lack the orthognathic profile, he says. On the other hand there's nothing whatever wrong with the vertical and forward growth of their mandibles.

Or, to put it another way, they don't have straight line profiles, but their jaw bones are lovely, just lovely.

Now Peck wants it understood that a pretty pout is not a prerequisite for beauty. For example, there's Grace Kelly, Elizabeth Taylor and Debbie Reynolds. They have straight line profiles.

So far, Peck has examined the faces of 35 women. None of the aforementioned lovelies was included, but he concentrates on recognized beauties such as models and beauty contest winners.

This is serious work for Peck, a resident orthodontist at the Boston University Medical Center. He says results of his study titled "a photographic and cephalometric study of facial symmetry and balance," may provide orthodontists with a guide to the ideal face.

Peck says it's possible to change the lower face profile of a child up to the age of 14 through orthodontic therapy.

May Start Anti-Poverty Drive in Pa.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., (AP) — The place to start President Johnson's war on poverty could well be Pennsylvania, according to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President's wife came to Pennsylvania's economically ailing anthracite area Saturday because, she said, she and the President "want to know better the people behind these statistics."

Thousands turned out to greet her. She said she had much to report to the President, "my commander-in-chief."

She said she feels the area "is the first battlefield" on the President's war on poverty.

At Wilkes College, where she dedicated a million-dollar science research center, Mrs. Johnson told a crowd of several hundred:

"The problems that you face and face so aggressively and so well are not problems of party. They are problems that affect all of us and I know that we will all rise above partisanship to conquer them."

A bipartisan group accompanied the First Lady, including Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., Rep. Joseph McDade, R-Pa., and Mrs. William Scranton, wife of Pennsylvania's governor.

Scranton is a potential candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Mrs. Johnson said she was

The merchant gripped his hat

so hard that he crushed the stiff brim. He looked around fearfully, but there was no escape. At last he sucked in his breath. "I consider myself a loyal subject of King George," he said.

"Are you sufficiently loyal to take risks for His Majesty's cause?"

"I correspond with friends in New York Town, if that's what you mean, sir."

"It is not. Are you willing to undertake a personal journey to New York? Naturally, I'll provide you with documents that will enable you to pass safely through the lines."

"What do you want me to do there, General?" Stansbury was less timid now.

"Are you acquainted with Sir Henry Clinton?"

"A man of my station has few opportunities to meet important people, sir. You're the first general who has ever spoken to me."

"Do you know Major John Andre?"

The merchant brightened. "Of course, sir! He often came into my shop with various young ladies. He knows almost as much about glassware and china as I do."

"Tell the major you bear word from me for Sir Henry's personal attention. Tell him I believe the present war is ruinous to America and Great Britain. Inform him that I offer him my services in any way that will effectually restore the former government. I am prepared to join the British army or, if Sir Henry prefers, I am willing to co-operate with him in a concealed plan that will hasten the end of the rebellion."

The board of inquiry appointed to investigate the charges made against Major General Arnold by the Executive Council of Pennsylvania convened at Morristown, New Jersey, two days before Christmas, 1779. The hearings lasted until January 8, with Benedict acting as his own counsel. He was self-assured and even-tempered; he replied to the accusations with a calm that impressed the 12 members of the court. In his mind the outcome of the trial was never in doubt. And when the hearings ended, he returned to Philadelphia, leaving Major Franks to bring him word of their verdict.

Finally, on Jan. 27, Major Franks appeared. The board had decided that Benedict was "imprudent and improper" in using wagons for his private business. And as punishment Benedict was to receive a reprimand from the commander-in-chief.
